Are you an experienced coach wanting to take your coaching to a new level? Or maybe you're new to coaching and want to learn from a master coach? Whatever your level of experience, this unique event is one not to be missed.

Based in Sydney, Australia, Michelle Duval is one of the world's greatest coaches. Not only does she have an enormous wealth of experience through her work with individuals, communities, corporations and global influencers, but she is testament to the power of coaching. Diagnosed with a debilitating and incurable disease, and given only 2 years to live, she proved the medical profession wrong by applying coaching techniques to develop a new form of healing.

The Coaching Foundation West Midlands is privileged to host this event, which is the only master-class that Michelle will be giving in Europe this summer. We look forward to welcoming you to a weekend that promises to be both informative and inspiring.

By the end, delegates can expect to:

- Have learnt new and advanced coaching techniques.
- Discovered the 'secrets' of a master coach and how these can be applied to your life and coaching practice.
- Take away practical tips to grow your coaching business.

Who is the event aimed at?

- New and experienced coaches
- Professional and student coaches
- Coach managers
- HR Professionals

About Michelle Duval

Coach, international speaker, writer and consultant, Michelle Duval works with individuals, communities, corporations and global influencers.....

Based in Sydney, Australia, Michelle Duval is one of the world's most successful coaches. Within 6 months of setting up her coaching practice she was carrying out 25-35 hours of face-to-face coaching each week and had a 3 month waiting list; a list which she maintained for 10 consecutive years. This exponential growth came about through a business model reliant upon word of mouth and using a program based approach which provided a consistent flow of new clients.

A pioneer into new forms of learning, Michelle helped found the field of professional coaching in Australia in 1997. She became a leading voice forging developmental and transformational coaching worldwide. A co-author of two international handbooks on coaching, she has been featured in two books recognising 'the world's most successful coaches'.

Michelle has co-developed cutting-edge coaching models used by professional coaches globally, while also training and certifying close to 1000 executive, business and personal coaches in more than 35 countries. In 2000, Michelle became a founding committee member of the International Coaching Federation (ICF) in Australasia. In 2002, she co-founded the International Meta-Coach Foundation (MCF) for research and accountability for the field. In the same year she expanded her business from a single coach practitioner to include nice coaches.

Michelle has coached thousands of people. Her personal speciality as a coach is working with entrepreneurs, thought leaders, CEO's, senior managers, executives and creative artists.

In her personal life, her health has given her a huge challenge but one that she has met. For most of her life she has suffered from a debilitating and incurable disease that was not correctly diagnosed until she was 33. Given only 6 months before she would be deaf, blind and mute, and only 2 years before the disease would take her life, she proved the medical profession wrong by creating a new form of healing with her closest friend and colleague, Sarah McIntyre. Having cured herself and now living completely disease free, she has gone on to speak and consult internationally with health care professionals and patients alike.

Michelle leads a simple, yet rich lifestyle, filled with passion and laughter. She delights in artistic expression and loves both challenge and adventure.

Day 1—Saturday 27 June

Transformational Coaching

The power to harness all of you; including physiology, mind, emotions and spirit are at the heart of Transformational Coaching. During this day learn and observe the powerful techniques that allow you to master your mind and emotions and harness the power of your spirit.

- Observe at least two live coaching sessions and participate in a full debrief.
- Get introduced to advanced coaching with Meta-Programs.
- Take part in a 'modelling interview'; ask any question about Michelle's skills, business model and her humanness.

Day 2—Sunday 28 June

Access of Change Model & The Business of Coaching

- Learn and experience this advanced change model, and develop skills for facilitating:
 - incremental change in skills and behaviours
 - evolutionary change in beliefs, values and identity
 - revolutionary change in direction and purpose.
- Uncover the secrets to creating a referral based coaching practice with a waiting list.
- Understand the fundamentals for financial security in your coaching practice and over coming feast and famine.
- Find the keys to managing 'time' in the delivery of your coaching, business and product development and your personal life.
- Discover how to creating a winning business development sales and marketing system.

About the Coaching Foundation

The Coaching Foundation exists to:

- Create a community for coaches: through meetings and virtually via the Internet.
- Encourage the use of coaching in all walks of life.
- Facilitate continued professional development for coaches.
- Develop the skills and practices associated with coaching through a multi-disciplinary approach to learning.
- Provide coaches with information relating to the coaching profession.
- Educate the general public about coaches and coaching.
- Promote best and ethical practice in coaching.

A not-for-profit organisation, The Coaching Foundation was incorporated as a company limited by guarantee in 2002. The Foundation is an inclusive organisation that is not directed at competing with any other in the coaching community.

In the West Midlands workshops are held regularly, providing an opportunity for delegates to explore and practice useful coaching techniques, as well as sharing insights and experiences.

Our web site at www.coachingfoundation.org.uk is a public source of information about our own events as well as others that we consider may be of interest to coaches.
